Re:	Q3 2024 Letter to Partners

Dear Partners:

For the quarter ended September 30, 2024, a total of $19.3 million was added to the various funds by new and existing partners. The additions on a per fund basis are:

PIF2: $11.5 million PIF3: $0.7 million PIF4: $7.1 million

PIF2 is the oldest fund and has been closed to new investors for many years. SEC rules limit PIF2 to a total of 100 partners and the fund currently has two open slots. PIF2 is open to US-based investors who are Qualified Clients. The minimum investment to join PIF2 as a new partner is $7 million.

PIF3 is our offshore fund for non-US accredited offshore investors, and U.S. IRAs, foundations, and endowments. The minimum investment to join PIF3 as a new partner is $7 million. PIF3 is closed to new and existing IRAs but continues to be open to US foundations/endowments and foreign investors. PIF4 is for qualified US investors. The minimum investment to join PIF4 as a new partner is $6 million.

For existing investors in any of the funds, the minimum addition to their current investment is $25,000. Here are the deposit slips for PIF2, PIF3 and PIF4.

General Comments

The three funds were down 14%, 15% and 2% respectively for Q3 2024. YTD they are up 17-25%. There is not much one can glean about future performance from this data. What is relevant for each fund is as follows:

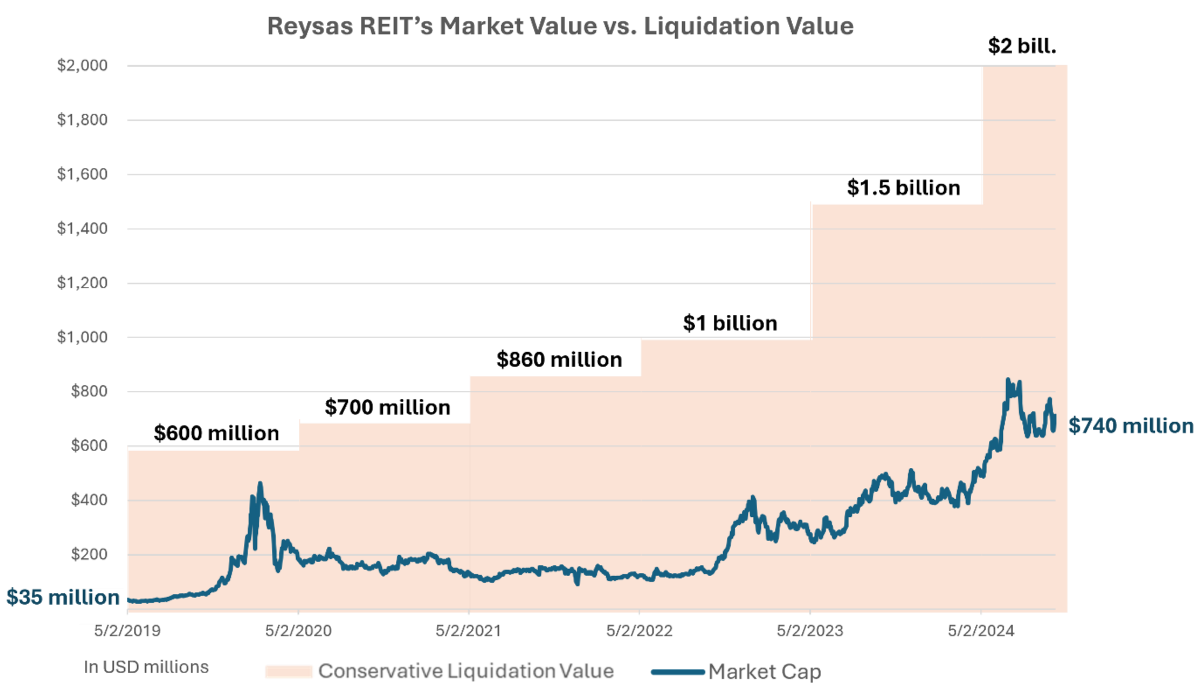
PIF2

PIF2 had about $300 million in assets at the end of Q3 2024. The major PIF2 holdings are:

Reysas	30%
Various Coal Bets	29%
TAV Airports	20%
Anadolu Efes	16%

These four bets make up 95% of the pie. We can ignore the remaining 5% for now. There is no such thing as a sure bet in investing. Things can come from left field, and we can have a not-so-great result on one or more of these bets.

Reysas is one of the easiest names to hold long-term. It has a market cap of less than $750 million and what I believe is a likely liquidation value of over $2 billion.



Source: Liquidation value is based on Pabrai Investment Funds internal analysis.

Pabrai Funds owns 1/3 of Reysas Logistics, which owns 62% of Reysas REIT. I elected to present the liquidation value of Reysas REIT vs. Reysas Logistics as the former's liquidation value calculation is a simpler exercise. In my opinion, if one assumed that the intrinsic value of Reysas Logistics was at least equal to the liquidation value of Reysas REIT, one would not be too far off the mark.

On the day I first visited them in 2019, the market cap of Reysas Logistics was less than $20 million and its intrinsic value was over $600 million. In addition, the father-son team who run the place are gifted capital allocators. Once the Reysas REIT stock trades above liquidation value, I'll turn my attention to the more important (but harder to calculate) metric of Reysas REIT's intrinsic value. What I am certain of today is that the intrinsic value for Reysas REIT is well above its liquidation value. We don't need to do anything with Reysas Logistics till it's market cap is well over $2 billion. And maybe do nothing for several years after we go past that milestone.

There are no guarantees, but I believe that it is likely that our coal bets will deliver 20+% annualized returns for quite a while. With their strong focus on buybacks, I hope and pray for lower stock prices for these names over the next several years. The lower their stock prices over the next few years, the more we make long-term. We hope they remain hated and unloved for a while.

TAV Airports has an incredible array of irreplaceable monopoly assets and has one of the best management teams I have ever met in my life. With each passing year, as I visit more of their airports and business units, I am even more impressed with the breadth and depth of their assets, leaders and managers. In my view, the business trades at a fraction of a conservative assessment of its intrinsic value. Virtually all of TAVs airports have consistent double digit annual growth in passenger traffic. And that is likely to continue as far as the eye can see. We need to do nothing here for quite a while.

Anadolu Efes has over 50% market share of Turkiye's beer business. They also have #1 beer market share in Russia, Ukraine, Kazakhstan, Georgia and Moldova. Efes also owns 50% of Coca-Cola Icecek, a coke bottler with exclusive Coke bottling rights in Turkiye, Pakistan, Kazakhstan, Azerbaijan, Uzbekistan, Tajikistan, Kyrgyzstan, Jordan, Iraq and Syria. Coca-Cola Icecek recently got exclusive Coke bottling rights for half of Bangladesh.

The Anadolu Group has a pristine reputation in Turkiye and have had deep and long associations with some of the most iconic brands in the world, including Coca-Cola, Budweiser (ABInBev) and McDonald's. The Coca-Cola Company owns 20% of Icecek and ABInBev owns 24% of Anadolu Efes. Both sit on their respective boards. The business is cheap with exceptional management with lots of tailwinds and many ways to win. The founding families have a large stake and conduct all their affairs with the highest integrity. We are in set it and forget it mode with Anadolu Efes.

If you are invested in only PIF2 or PIF2+PIF4 with no exposure to PIF3, if I were you, I would not be concerned about PIF2/PIF4's concentrated holdings in the least if they collectively represent less than a third of your net worth. If this exposure is more than a third, you may want to consider trimming the position. I believe that it is unlikely the rest of your portfolio and assets have much correlation with PIF2/PIF4.

PIF3

PIF3 had about $335 million in assets at the end of Q3 2024. The major PIF3 holdings are:

Reysas	48%
TAV Airports	18%
Various Coal Bets	17%
Anadolu Efes	14%
Other	3%

PIF3 has about half its assets in Reysas and most of the rest is split between our other three major bets. We did not invest much in Reysas. It was a nanocap when we first encountered it. Even though PIF3 owns 20% of Reysas Logistics, it invested a pittance in Reysas. It is the Reysas Logistics market cap going from under $30 million to over $700 million in the last five years that have caused the fund to have half its assets in Reysas.

> "You only get a few trips to the pie counter. If you take out of Warren Buffett's life the 10 most important trips to the pie counter, his whole record would look like dung. We knew enough to take a good helping when we were offered a trip to the pie counter."
> - Charlie Munger

We are not going to find opportunities like Reysas frequently. Being offered such a high-quality business at well under 5% of liquidation value is likely to never ever happen again in my lifetime. We were lucky to be offered a trip to the Reysas pie counter. While at the pie counter, I loaded up on as much Reysas pie as I could!

While I am not a founder of Reysas and it is a passive investment for us, I think of Reysas as a family business. It is quite natural for owners of family businesses to have over 90% of their wealth tied up in an illiquid privately held business. They do not seem to lose much sleep over it. The business has many fine qualities. Reysas owns 11 million square feet of prime Class A warehouses that are 99+% leased on long-term inflation indexed leases to the likes of Amazon, Ikea, Toyota, Mercedes, Carrefour, etc.

Its recurring revenues from these blue-chip tenants means that it has extreme predictability on its annual revenues and cash flows. The pandemic was a nonevent for Reysas. How many businesses can make that claim? In addition, Reysas has gifted capital allocators at the helm. In the last five years I have not seen them make any dumb decisions. In fact, I believe Reysas' intrinsic value is likely to be meaningfully higher in the years ahead. I also expect the valuation gap between market cap and liquidation to narrow considerably. We have no plans to trim the Reysas position - even if it becomes 80% of the pie.

My two cents: If PIF3 and all your other Pabrai Funds holdings make up less than a fifth of your net worth, I believe that you will be ok with the extreme concentration of PIF3 in Reysas. If you have over a fifth of your assets in PIF3 plus PIF2/PIF4, please consider trimming your PIF3 exposure.

PIF4

PIF4 had about $280 million in assets at the end of Q3 2024. The major PIF4 holdings are:

Various Coal Bets	34%
TAV Airports	22%
Edelweiss Financial	18%
Anadolu Efes	15%
Reysas	7%
Other	4%

Unlike the other funds, PIF4 has meaningful exposure to Edelweiss Financial in India. Due to onerous fund investor disclosure rules recently implemented by SEBI (India's SEC), Pabrai Funds has given up its India investing licenses. Our Edelweiss exposure is through a P-Note structure. This structure is also being brought into the same disclosure regime. Thus, Pabrai Funds will be forced sellers of all our entire Edelweiss stake in the next few months. In my opinion, Edelweiss is an incredible compounding machine, and it is quite unfortunate that none of the funds will have any exposure to it.

My two cents is that if you have an investment in PIF4 and no exposure to PIF3, I believe the concentrated nature of the PIF4 portfolio can be ignored if PIF4 makes up less than a third of your net worth. If PIF4+PIF2 is more than a third of your net worth, trimming may make sense.

Alignment of Interests

My immediate family has a stake of 167,886 units of PIF2 and 227,121 units of PIF4. The administrative team at Pabrai Funds and I own 42,917 units of PIF4 and 11,773 units of PIF3 in various retirement accounts. In addition, The Dakshana Foundation owns 86,246 units of PIF3. The aggregate stake of the Pabrai family, the Pabrai Funds team and The Dakshana Foundation in Pabrai Funds is worth approximately $50 million.

Pabrai Funds charges no management fee, just performance fees – which are a fourth of the returns over 6% annualized (subject to high-water marks). I only get paid when you make money. When you win, I win. I am very bullish on the long-term future of Pabrai Funds – as demonstrated by my being the second largest investor in the funds. No fees were earned in Q3 2024.

I have an approximately $4.8 million investment in Dhandho Holdings. Additionally, The Dakshana Foundation has an approximately $0.5 million investment in Dhandho Holdings.

Besides this, I have no other meaningful interests in any other mutual funds, hedge funds or private equity funds. Our interests are completely aligned.

Note: The assets under management in the above graph are as of June 30 for all annual periods. Various indices are included throughout this letter for reference. Reference to an index or benchmark does not imply that the strategy will achieve returns, experience volatility, or have other results similar to the index. As an example, the Funds may invest in foreign securities or fixed income instruments; however the indices presented only include U.S. securities. These indices are purely a basket of stocks, and the Funds may invest in securities other than stocks such as bonds, warrants and preferred stocks. The Funds typically hold fewer than 10 positions as compared to 500 in the S&P, 30 in the DJIA, and thousands in the NASDAQ. Therefore, the Funds are significantly more concentrated than the benchmark indices and may experience notably higher volatility and return characteristics from these indices.

Important Disclosures:

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Returns are presented net of all fees and expenses, include the reinvestment of income and are calculated using a simple rate of return. The securities discussed do not represent all securities recommended for the Funds. It is also not a recommendation to buy or sell and one should not presume they will be profitable.

Due to the high concentration in a small number of holdings, each Fund's performance may be hurt disproportionately by the poor performance of one or only a few stocks.

Before making any investment decision, consider whether it is suitable for you and consider seeking advice from your own financial or investment adviser.

Please be aware that our current and past newsletters may discuss specific securities that have performed well without necessarily addressing those that have underperformed within our Fund(s). Readers should not infer that all investment decisions within the Funds were profitable.
