“Contura’s diversified asset base and our active trading and logistics segment continued to allow us to respond to favorable met market conditions in the second quarter while sustaining a stable thermal market share,” said Kevin Crutchfield, chief executive officer. “While we were disappointed with the outcome of the IPO process, withdrawing it was the right decision for our shareholders at this time, given that current capital market conditions would have undervalued the company. We’ll continue to evaluate other strategic options to enhance shareholder value while maintaining our focus on operating safely and efficiently.”

¹ The year-to-date 2017 amounts presented herein reflect the elimination of the first quarter 2017 mark-to-market gain on warrants pursuant to the adoption of ASU 2017-11. See Note 16 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further discussion surrounding the adoption of ASU 2017-11.

² These are non-GAAP financial measures. A reconciliation of net loss to adjusted EBITDA is included in tables accompanying the financial schedules.

Financial Performance

- Coal revenues in the second quarter were $440.8 million, with Central Appalachia (CAPP) accounting for $111.2 million and Trading and Logistics accounting for $179.3 million. On the thermal side, Northern Appalachia (NAPP) revenue totaled $77.3 million and the Powder River Basin (PRB) generated $72.9 million in coal sales. NAPP cost averaged $33.01 per ton, which was impacted by a longwall move in June and also included idle costs of $0.92 per ton. The cost of coal sales per ton for the PRB mines was $11.00 during the second quarter, impacted by lower production levels relative to first quarter and accelerated accretion related to a permit that is in process of being amended.

Total costs and expenses year-to-date were $966.8 million and cost of coal sales was $729.2 million. The cost of coal sales in CAPP, including idle costs of $1.60 per ton, averaged $74.05 per ton for the year-to-date period ending June 30, while NAPP costs averaged $31.13 per ton, including idle costs of $0.80 per ton.
